Introduction

This policy regarding provision for students with special educational needs is firmly rooted in the central aim of Frome College 'where every student has the right and ability to succeed'. Frome College values and respects the personal qualities and needs of individual students and is committed to providing a secure but challenging learning environment in which all may develop as confident young adults, regardless of their special needs or differences. The Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Policy reflects the curriculum which is one of entitlement, and the purpose is to inform and direct practice, allowing the maximum access and achievement for all those students who have a special educational need.

There is a cohesive approach to children with special educational needs. The students are included and supported for both their educational and emotional needs. There are high expectations for all students who are supported in line with the SEND Code of Practice (2014) with regards to early identification and working in partnership with the child, parent/carer and outside agencies.

The SEND Code of Practice (2014) provides an overview of the range of needs which is divided into four areas:

- Communication and Interaction
- Cognition and Learning
- Social Emotional and Mental Health Difficulty
- Sensory and/or Physical Needs

Definition

A child is defined as having SEND if they have a learning difficulty which calls for a Special Educational Provision, namely provision different from or additional to that normally available to students of the same age. A learning difficulty means that the child has significantly greater difficulty in learning than most children of the same age or that the child has a disability which, hinders them from making use of educational facilities from those generally provided by schools for children of the same age.

All teachers in Frome College are teachers of children with Special Educational Needs.

Aims

- To ensure students with learning difficulties make good or better progress due to the well-targeted support they receive; that they are fully integrated into the other aspects of college life through active involvement in extra-curricular activities, in-college clubs and house events.
- To ensure students with learning difficulties make good or better progress due to the well-targeted support they receive; that they are fully integrated into the other aspects of college life through active involvement in extra-curricular activities, in-school clubs and house events.
- To make early identification of students who need extra provision by ensuring a smooth and detailed transition between schools and key stages.
- Ensuring there are good communication systems within the college to refer students who may be in need.
- To ensure all staff are aware of each individual student's needs and how best to support them in class using Pupil Passports and staff briefings, team meetings and external speakers so that they are confident in responding to students of all abilities and needs.
- To keep parents/carers fully informed and to actively seek the involvement of them in the education of their children.
- To ensure students are involved in all decisions.
- To create strong partnerships with outside agencies and alternative provision networking.
- To keep the Governors updated.

Provision

Students' needs are outlined on Individual Pupil Passports. Students who are designated SEN support (K) have a Pupil Passport which students and teachers use to differentiate learning and support. We operate a graduated response of Assess, Plan, and Do, Review, which provides more structure and support, which are tailored to students' specific needs. Parents are invited to termly or yearly review meetings. All staff responsible for teaching the students receive a copy of the Pupil Passport and a link to the Provision Map to provide a comprehensive picture of a student's learning needs. The review will show short-term targets set for students and strategies to support their learning; teaching staff are informed of these targets.

Identification

In line with the SEND Code of Practice (2014), to help identify and assess students who may have Special Educational Needs, one or more of the following may apply:

- a) Evidence from teacher observation and assessment.
- b) Current performance against expected attainment may be causing concern.
- c) CAT screening for spikey profiles and potential.
- d) Behaviour tracking.
- e) Standardised screening or assessments.
- f) Parental concern.
- g) Medical diagnosis – including multi-agency assessments.

Basic Entitlement and Quality First Teaching

At Frome College we adopt a graduated response to meeting the special educational needs that require the initial use of classroom and school resources before bringing expertise to help address the difficulties that a student is experiencing.

All teachers are responsible and accountable for the progress and development of the pupils in class and as such will provide quality first teaching within their classroom, differentiated as appropriate relating to a broad and balanced curriculum.

If students require further support, they may receive interventions and will be placed on SEN Support (K) and have a Pupil Passport.

Certain students may have significant difficulties and will require a greater level of support and intervention. These students are classed as Higher Needs and appropriate funding may be sought for this purpose.

Students with a significant level of need will require an application to County for an Educational Health and Care Plan.

Staff Development

Staff will receive appropriate training on how best to support SEND students and their specific areas of need. Pupil Passports are issued to staff on an annual basis and updated regularly when required. Staff are also updated through weekly briefings regarding changes in need.

Facilities for Students with SEND

- 2) Short -term targeted interventions.
- 3) Learning Hub - Teaching classroom and four intervention rooms.

Access to the Curriculum

All students are encouraged to be fully integrated into every aspect of college life as possible, both academically and socially.

Teachers will respond to student's special educational needs by using a range of strategies. Lessons will have clear learning objectives; work will be differentiated appropriately, and assessment used to inform the next stage of learning.

Extra support for students in classes is provided, where necessary, by a member of the Learning Support team. On occasions, a student may be withdrawn from a lesson so that they can receive more intensive support from a member of the team or visiting specialist. This takes place in the Learning Support classrooms and may be one to one or part of a group. The college is aware of the sensitivities of this strategy for a student and will always explain to the student the reason for any withdrawal from lessons. Parents/Carers will be informed.

Complaints procedure

Parents/Carers should follow the Frome College Complaints Procedure which is available via the Frome College website or by following this link:

The Role of the Governing Body

The Governing Body has a statutory responsibility to ensure that special educational needs are identified, and appropriate provision is provided. This is done through termly meetings with the link SEND Governor and SENCO, as well as governing body meetings with the SENCO.

Catriona Williams is currently the SEND Governor, however, Catriona plans to retire from the Governing Board in October 2023 and will be succeeded by Steve Jolly.

Parents and Carers

Frome College recognises and values the importance of parental involvement in all aspects of special educational needs and is committed to an effective Home School Partnership. Frome College uses Provision Map to share pupil passports with parents and to communicate directly with the SEND team and vice-versa.

The college is always pleased to meet with parents and the SENCO is available at all Parents' Evening by appointment. In addition, the hub holds an open event after school once a term for a drop-in session.

Parents are consulted at each stage in the identification assessment and provision for special educational needs. This is triggered by students achieving below expectations – despite quality first teaching interventions or through parental concern or request. Parents are encouraged to take an active role in the planning and review of their child's support. Parents of students identified as requiring SEND support will be invited to meetings as and when required to review their child's needs.

Monitoring and Evaluation

The success of the college's special educational needs policy is measured by the quality of education received by individual students and the progress made in relation to their difficulties. This is achieved through the review process which includes feedback from all key stakeholders, a reflection of academic results and qualifications and updating the Pupil Passports which are then shared with staff and parents. Students' statements reflecting their coping skills and enjoyment are useful indicators of success. Other indicators include improvements in Numeracy and Literacy skills, attendance rates and the number of SEND students continuing in Post 16 education.

The SENCO is line managed by the Vice-Principal. They meet regularly to review procedures and outcomes for students with special educational needs. To assist the Governors in reviewing provision, the SENCO meets the SEND Link Governor and reports regularly to the Governing Body.
