

SIXTH FORM AT FROME COLLEGE

HANDBOOK

2020-21

Mission Statement

Despite the ongoing COVID crisis, Sixth Form at Frome College aims to equip our students with the skills, experiences and qualifications needed to succeed in the wider world. We want to foster an open-minded, curious and compassionate outlook in our students; helping them to make informed and intelligent decisions about their futures.

During the crisis, staff and students have had to adapt to new ways of working online. As we continue to manage the risks presented by the pandemic, students will need to follow College guidance closely.

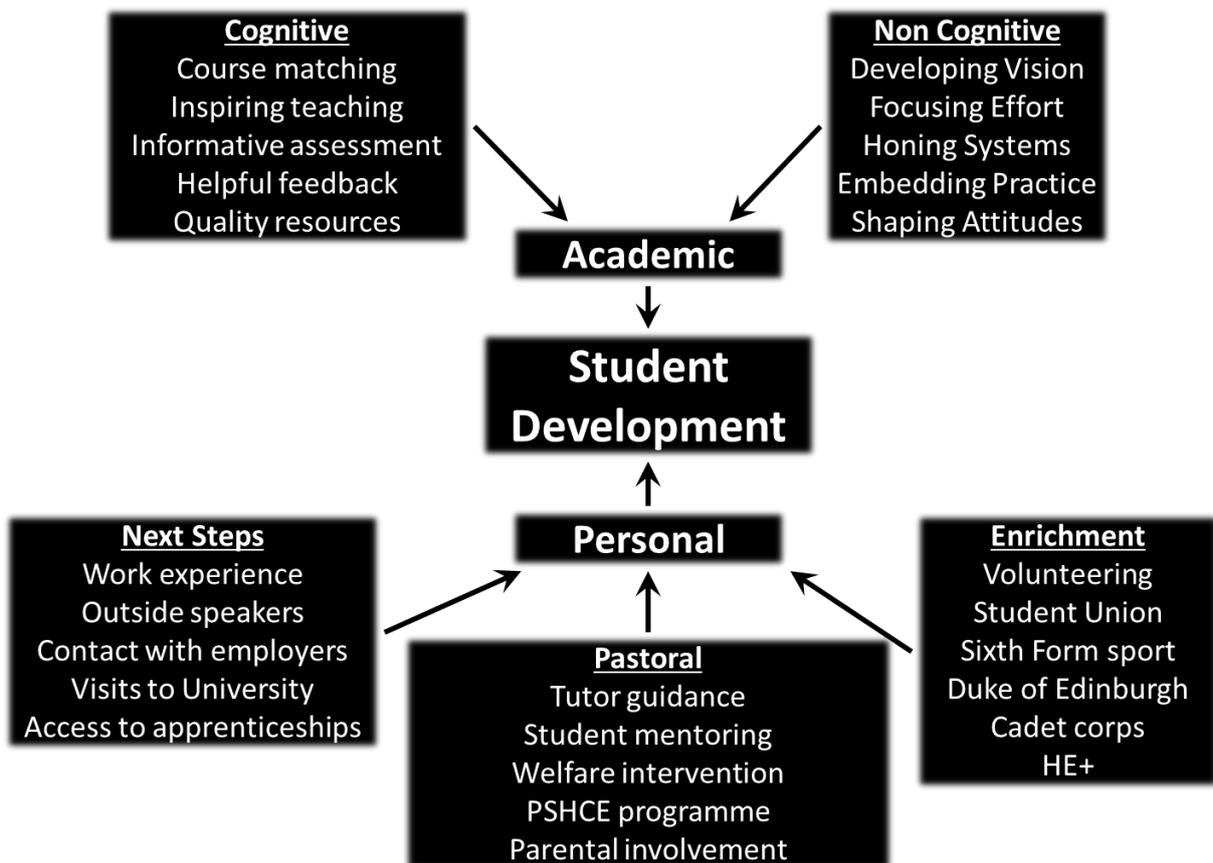

For our Sixth Form; this means being on site only when necessary. This means attending all lessons but going home to study independently wherever possible. The study spaces in Futures will be to available use during study periods, but should only be used if student are unable to go home to study. The common room and cafe will be available to use a 10-2 every day.

Mr Richard Hood
Head of Sixth Form

Student Responsibilities

Attendance

Students are required to attend all timetabled lesson. Biometric AM/PM registration has been suspended until further notice.

Assembly

Links to pre-recorded Sixth Form Assembly/Brief will be sent to students on Wednesdays. It is important that all students watch this to stay up-to-date with Sixth Form affairs by checking their emails and FROG.

VESPA Mentoring

VESPA time is a group mentoring programme led by tutors, in which students engage in exercises to develop their non-cognitive skills including Vision, Effort, Systems, Practice and Attitude. To minimise the amount of time being spent on site this is being delivered remotely via FROG.

Emails

All students should check their school email inboxes on a daily basis to ensure important messages are received.

Independent Study

Success or failure in the Sixth Form depends on how much time you are willing to put into mastering your subjects outside lesson time.

There are two types of independent study:

1. Reactive study – work set by the teacher
2. Proactive study – work that consolidates recent topics or prepares for upcoming topics.

How much?

Students with the best grades at the end of Year 13 typically put in 15 hours of independent study per week.

What should you do?

Teachers should set you 1 hour of homework for every hour you spend in lesson. If you take three subjects this should equate to 12 hours of directed independent study tasks per week.

If you finish your homework you should do the following:

- Rewrite lesson notes and file them neatly in your revision folder.
- Find your last assessed piece of work and ensure you have acted on the feedback you have been given.
- Create a revision resource on the topic you have just covered.
- Create a glossary of key terms that you have covered in this unit of work.
- Search the Internet for past paper questions, complete them under timed conditions, mark them and read the examiner's report on them.
- Look ahead to the next part of the syllabus you are covering, pre-read the chapter in the textbook and make some notes on this.
- Look at the specification for your course, print it out and highlight all topics you need to look at again before your next major assessment.
- Plan your study periods for the week ahead.
- Enrich your understanding by finding some real world applications of what you have just been studying.
- Read a book related to your programme of study.

Teaching and Learning in the Sixth Form

	Independent learning 	In lessons 	Assessments and Exam Prep 	Feedback and Marking
--	--	--	--	--

Intent What are we trying to achieve?	Students engage in significant independent work to prepare for, consolidate and revise their learning in class.	Teachers demonstrate deep subject knowledge and students feel secure with the quality of teaching.	Teachers embed revision lessons into their curriculum planning. Students feel well prepared for assessments.	Students receive termly written feedback on their work with explicit guidance on how to improve.
Implementation How are we going to achieve it?	Students are set ample amounts of structured tasks to complete outside lessons. Resources including reading lists and now-do-now tasks are available via frog. Learning involves group work to improve facilitate positive peer-to-peer learning in College.	Teachers model the application of skills and subject knowledge to exam style questions in lesson. Clear communication of ideas, conceptions and common misconceptions. Opportunities for teacher guided debate and discussion.	Teachers inform students of key assessment dates early in the course. Teachers provide PLCs and learning checklists to students at the start of topics/projects and making reference to them through the course. Teaching is completed well in advance of public examinations.	Whole school RAG stickers are used to signpost next steps. Assessments are teacher assessed and show evidence of verbal (student comments) or written feedback (teacher comments) Students are directed to act on feedback either in lessons or as directed study.
Impact How do we know it is having an effect?	Students are visibly engaged in study during study periods. Lessons show emphasis on application rather than content delivery. Students show evidence of wider reading.	Lessons are often teacher led and are tangibly connected to well-designed curriculum with explicit links to specification content.	Students can state when key assessment will take place. Students perform consistently on or close to their target grade.	Evidence of feedback in students work books and folders. Students can verbalise ways they need to improve. Evidence of students interacting with feedback and making progress.

The Role of a Sixth Form Tutor

Supporting Learning	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Delivering the VESPA mentoring programme during tutor time. Setting weekly targets for students.
Attendance	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Tutors should ensure that all students attend their scheduled mentoring slot and should follow up absences

	with a phone call/ email home. Wednesday mornings are ring fenced for this purpose. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An attendance record VESPA mentoring should be kept.
Next Steps	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Tutors should forward relevant correspondence from the employability coordinator to students regarding jobs/apprenticeship vacancies. • In Year 13 Tutors are responsible for writing UCAS tutor.
Pastoral	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Tutors should be the first port of call for pastoral issues and should refer students to the sixth form welfare officer (Debbie Lovegrove) where necessary. • Safeguarding concerns should be passed to the DSL and Sixth Form team.

Next steps/Careers

The Employability Co-ordinator is Miss Friend who can be found in F9

Ways Students Can Access Support

- Drop In- for advice or help during free lessons or between 3- 4pm.
- Job Club - every Tuesday between 3-4pm. Students can attend for help with; deciding on a career path, work experience, job applications, strengthening CVs, interview skills resources and arranging a mock interview.
- One-to-one meetings - In Year 13 all students who are considering entering the work place will receive an appointment to discuss their next steps with Miss Friend. Students can email to request a meeting or ask a question to louise.friend@fromecollege.org

Changing/Dropping Courses

We encourage students to make informed and deliberate choices about their post-16 courses and to stick with them. However, we recognise that occasionally students will want to make changes to their programme of study.

The Procedure:

1. Collect and change subject form from Reception in Futures.
2. Gather consent and signatures from teachers, parents and Head of Sixth.
3. Sixth Form Admin will process request and print an amended timetable.
4. Do not start new course until new timetable has been received.

Guidance Notes:

- Students who start with four A-levels will be allowed to drop their fourth choice at any time if they feel the work load is unsustainable.
- We advise against dropping down to two A-level or BTEC subjects, as this radically limits next step options and the guided learning hours would be insufficient.

Core Maths

Core maths is an AS-level qualification that enables Sixth Form students to continue to develop their mathematical skills without taking on the full A-level. Students, who have elected not to study A-level Maths, but have below a Grade 7 in GCSE Maths, and wish to study one of the following A levels, will be automatically enrolled on the course in Year 12:

Biology or Chemistry, Computing, Psychology, Geography, Product Design.

EPQ (Extended Project Qualification)

An EPQ (Extended Project Qualification) is an independent project, for which students earn an AS-level once completed. It involves logging and evaluating the process of producing an essay, artefact, performance or event.

Students complete the project between October and March of Year 12 or 13. Sign up will be available in September 2020.

The Student Union

The Student Union at Frome College aims to inspire and enable positive student action within the Sixth Form. Student Leaders within the Union represent the interests of the student body of the Sixth Form and act as ambassadors for the whole College

The Head Boy/Head Girl system has been replaced by an elected Student Union Executive Committee comprising of:

- President
- Vice President
- Treasurer
- Secretary

Once elected by students and staff, the Executive will appoint officers to lead briefs including:

- Sport
- Welfare
- Prom
- Fundraising
- Eco
- Media

Elections and appointments to the Student Union take place in Term 4.

Personal, Social, Health and Citizenship Education (PSHCE)

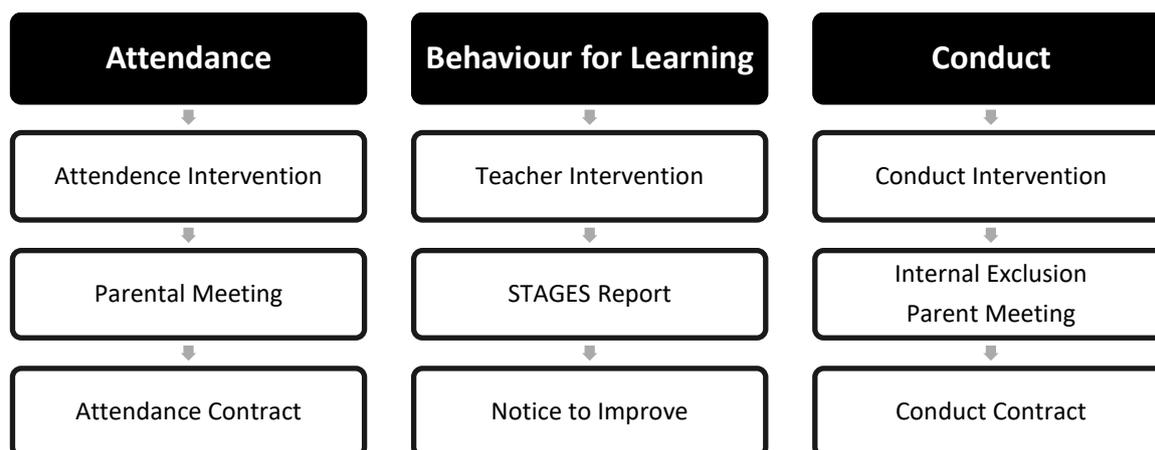

We aim to equip young people with not only the academic qualifications, but the life skills that will help them to get on in the wider world.

PSHCE will be delivered through bi-weekly timetabled lessons in Year 12 and 13 covering these themes:

- Health and Wellbeing
- Relationships
- Living in the Wider World

We expect all students to attend these lessons, as they would any other timetabled activity.

Behaviour Management Outline (ABC)

Attendance

Should a student fail to provide a satisfactory explanation for a missed lesson or unauthorised absence, they will be expected to attend a one hour after-school detention in F123 on Wednesday or Friday (Attendance Intervention).

Failure to attend or persistent attendance concerns will lead to a student being placed in the STAGES post 16 disciplinary system. (below)

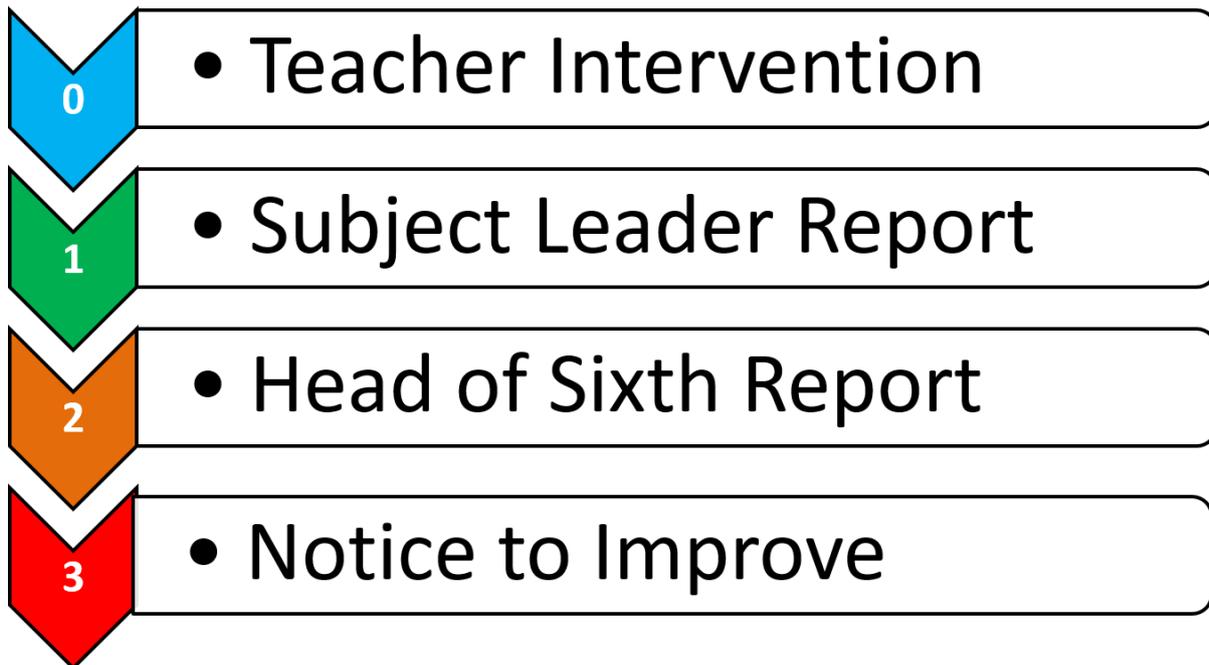

Behaviour for Learning

The STAGES learning support system codifies the learning support process for post-16. It is designed specifically to tackle academic underachievement and not to address other breaches of the Sixth Form Code of Conduct.

Following standard (teacher level) intervention to tackle underachievement in a particular subject area such as detentions, help sessions and phone calls home, a teacher may refer a student to Stage 1 of the learning support system. This involves being set improvement targets and being placed on report for a two week period by the subject leader in the area of concern. Parents/carers will be informed in writing when this and any subsequent step is triggered.

Should a student fail to respond to this intervention, or should wider concerns be raised, their report will escalate as shown below.

The final stage, 'Notice to Improve' involves a formal written letter from the Principal setting out a final set of improvement demands.

Conduct

Minor breaches of the Sixth Form Code of Conduct may lead to a student being expected to attend an after school detention in F123 on Wednesday/Friday. (Conduct Intervention).

Failure to attend or persistent breaches will lead to a parental meeting and the possibility of being placed on a conduct contract.

Serious breaches of the code of conduct may also lead to short term internal exclusion.

Absence

Planned absences (including medical appointments) – Students must seek written approval prior to the period of absence by completing an absence form at least 2 working days in advance.

Unplanned absences – such as for illness, must be reported by telephone to the absence line before 0900. The telephone number is (01373) 469008.

Medical absences – medical evidence must be provided for absences lasting more than one week.

In all cases, students are responsible for asking teaching staff, via their school email, to supply catch up work.
